

Teacher Refresher: Building Inclusive Classrooms

Explore and develop useful activities that will help you create an inclusive and creative classroom

Course Outline

Building Inclusive Classrooms is designed for teachers looking for new approaches to engaging all learners and creating inclusivity in their classrooms. Theories of 'Social and Emotional Learning' and 'Universal Design Learning' offer exciting new ways to tackle the challenge of engaging diverse learners. This course explores how teachers can adapt these approaches to create collaborative, creative and inclusive classrooms. In particular, participants will explore the latest language teaching methodologies, observe those techniques and strategies at work in our language lessons, analyse their own teaching practices, and develop materials, tools and techniques that they can implement directly into their own teaching. Through workshops, group tasks, and knowledge-sharing activities, we look at how these tools can help create lessons for a diverse range of learners.

All courses take place at the Atlantic Centre of Education in Galway, on Ireland's Wild Atlantic Way, offering participants the chance to explore Irish and local cultural heritage through a week-long programme that includes a full-day cultural tour, a guided walking tour of Galway city, and afternoon social and cultural activities, with staff available to recommend additional events and excursions.

Objectives

Learn practical approaches to creating inclusive classrooms. ✓

Share experiences with other teachers on success and challenges. ✓

Reflect on strategies for learner engagement. ✓

Create and gather materials to fit your classroom. ✓

Added value of the mobility

Explore new concepts in teaching while practising English and sharing experiences with fellow teachers

Activities to be carried out

- Interactive teaching with teacher-led sessions, individual and group tasks
- Skills-focused workshops on developing teaching materials based on principles of inclusivity
- Strategies to aid student expression and make teaching more accessible and inclusive
- Cultural and heritage trips as part of a chaperoned group

Expected outcomes and impact

This course offers a professional development opportunity designed to introduce participants to new teaching approaches that can increase learner engagement and promote inclusivity. Through project-based activities and workshops, participants will acquire valuable tips and insights, and also benefit from the knowledge and skills shared by fellow participants. The opportunity to experience new cultural contexts and network with international colleagues is a further positive outcome.
